It was started in the year 2014 and specializes in the field of personal growth and development by use of outdoor-based activities to promote learning and realization of the fullest human potential.

The Centre operates as an autonomous outdoor school to develop trainee functional leadership through self-awareness, self-confidence, self-leadership, leadership, team work skills, management and governance skills, sense of caring for others and the environment.

PHYSICAL LOCATION

The College is located at Kirimancuma base Camp that lies at an altitude of 3000 Metres above sea level at the summit of the Nyambene range. The Nyambene range is elongated from the South East to the North East and rises sharply above the surrounding plateau. The slopes are very steep and rocky especially to the eastern side but the crests are much lower as very little land is above 1,829 M ASL.

The plateau runs south to north from Mt. Kenya to Nyambene Hills and is separated from the Lowlands by a clear break on topography between 914 M and 1,067M ASL. The lowest altitude is 610 M ASL. There is an escarpment to the east rising between 15 M and 100 M ASL which is characterized by many springs and the land gently descends towards Tana River.

Rainfall and Temperatures

The area climate is determined to a large extent by its topography; the relief is created by the Nyambene ranges and nearby Mount Kenya. The highlands reduce the effect of high temperatures and the rate of evaporation. Temperatures are cool-humid to hot and dry ranging from an annual mean of 24.7 °C for low altitudes (610 – 700 M) and 13.7°C for the high altitudes especially on the western slopes of the Nyambene ranges.

The lowlands thus receive low rainfall as they are on the leeward side of the range. The rainfall pattern is bi-modal with long rains coming between March and May, and the short rains from October to December. Rainfall ranges from 1,250 mm – 2,514 mm on the eastern and southern slopes of the Nyambene range, to 380 mm – 1000 mm annually in the leeward side.

APLSC is found in one of the many hills in the area called Kirimachuma. Being on the highland, the place experiences the above climatic conditions. But due to the nature of activities involved in the centre, outdoor activities will ensure learners experience different weather conditions found in the region.

The leadership school is modeled into a camping site to enable trainees draw lessons and teaching out of their normal comfort zones.

a. ADMINISTRATION POLICE PEACE HALF MARATHON.

The marathon is coordinated by the Centre and is fully organized by the Administration police service with pioneer assurance as the main sponsor. The 1st edition was held on March 1, 2015 and attracted more than 5,000 participants, over 2,000 athletes and was graced by Mr. Abel Kirui the two times world athletic champion. The objective of this event is to create a peaceful and enabling policing environment for a safer community. APS has a strong community touch and this event is meant to change public perception about the police and remove the public fear about the police.

HIGH ALTITUDE TRAINING CAMP (HATC) –AT APLSC

The AP Service is developing the High Altitude Training Centre (HATC) at APLSC into a National Training Centre.

As an initial step, the Service appointed willing officers to train at the facility. Describing the HATC the DIG/APS elucidated the benefits to the police and the public, and on the measures of how it promotes community sports through the physical fitness and talent coaching.

Situated at 3000m above sea level, the APS plan to develop the HATC into one which will cater the need of athletes in a variety of disciplines, both indoor and outdoor. A new element now at APLSC to be included into the HATC is the development of training in rowing, canoeing and kayaking at the Dam inside Nyambene forest.
